Watching England's World Cup semi-final in the pub with friends from the church Youth Club was a reminder that Christians are just as capable of believing "it's coming home" as anyone else. For a glorious few minutes, we celebrated like champions; by the final whistle we were staring into our drinks, wondering how hope had slipped away yet again!

Disappointment is part of life, whether it's football or something far more serious. It was good to share both the highs and the lows together, laughing at ourselves, consoling one another, and remembering that while England may not always make the final, there's always next tournament, and thankfully, our faith isn't quite as dependent on the scoreline!
